How designing interactive learning embodied experiences for dance goes hand in hand with inclusive computing?

Katerina El Raheb, Yannis Ioannidis
{kelraheb@di.uoa.gr}
Designing for the human body

• Practice-based, participatory research
Designing for the human body

• Body representation, ideals and identities
Designing for the human body

• Embracing diversity, thinking beyond dualities and dichotomies (e.g. body-mind, women-men, right-wrong movement)

What are the hierarchies and values that we are replicating through the digital media and computing?